What this standard covers

This standard specifies the use of global positioning system real-time dynamic measurements (RTK) technology. Implementing control plane control measure and elevation measurements, technical requirements topographical measurements, methods. RTK plane and vertical control measure applied to the foundation cloth measuring control points outside the industry of digital mapping and photogrammetry and remote sensing, RTK topographic surveys apply outside the industry of digital mapping diagram root measurements and detail point data acquisition. Other appropriate positioning accuracy measurement can be performed with reference to this standard.
