4 Compilation principles

4.1

According to the relevant documents of the state on institutional reform, establishment, etc., GB/T 4657-the code of:2009, the newly established institutions are given a new code:

4.2

When several institutions are merged into a new institution, on the premise of not destroying the classification structure, the new institution may use the one before the merger:

The original code of the institution: When an organization has been divided and is now merged, the code before the division is used:

4.3

For the case of multiple brands of an institution, the code is only assigned according to the sequence to which the institution belongs, and the parallel names are enclosed in brackets and arranged at the back:

4.4

If the original canceled institution resumes external listing, the original code shall be used:

4.5
