--- GB/T 15387.1-2001. The term database development documentation guidelines

1 Scope

GB/T 15387.1-2014 is the Chinese national standard on guidelines for the documentation for developing terminological database, in the field of generalities, terminology and documentation. The /T suffix marks it as a recommended standard: it is not compulsory by itself, but it becomes binding as soon as a contract, a tender or a customer specification calls it up - which in practice is how most foreign buyers meet it. It was issued on 6 May 2014 by the General Administration of Quality Supervision, Inspection and Quarantine of the People's Republic of China; Standardization Administration of China, and has been in force since 1 November 2014. Classification: ICS 01.020, CCS A22. This page is published from the official record of the standard held by the Chinese standards administration: the identification, the dates, the classification and the issuing body are taken from there. The clause text, the tables and the numeric limits are in the document itself, which is delivered complete in English translation.

This section GB/T 15387 specifies the general principles of terminology databases (abbreviated glossary) of the main development documents, the main contents, compiled Writing and document management requirements. This section applies to the term library research, development, maintenance and management, and other work related to the term can also refer to data processing use.
