

ICS 67.24
CCS B 04

NATIONAL STANDARD OF THE PEOPLE'S REPUBLIC OF CHINA

GB/T 16861-1997

Sensory analysis. Identification and selection of descriptors for establishing a sensory profile by a multidimensional approach (English Translation)

Issued on: June 16, 1997

Implemented on: January 1, 1998

Issued by: State Bureau of Technical Supervision

Table of Contents

What this standard covers	1
Document data	2

What this standard covers

This standard specifies the method of choice for the development of product identification and description of the word sensory profile; also provides for the establishment of the inspection process at different stages through the various stages of testing available for a complete description of the product organoleptic characteristics: - From a qualitative point of view look, refers to the provisions of descriptive words to distinguish between a product and the perception of all other similar products; - from a quantitative point of view, the value indicates the strength of each of the products described in words (evaluators analyze the components of a comprehensive perception derived stronger or weaker impression). This standard applies to: - the nature of the product standard requirements, identification of differences; - study aging products, storage and preservation conditions influence, which can determine the characteristics and the degree of change from the change;

Document data

International classification (ICS): 67.24.

Chinese classification (CCS): B04.

Estimated length of the Chinese original: 25,255 words.

Adopted international standard: ISO 11035-1994, IDT.