What this standard covers

This standard is used or recommendations made ??have been shown for the random-wound winding insulation structure changes and thermal insulation grouping alternative evaluation and classification of the test procedures. This test procedure is to be evaluated insulation performance and has been proven experience or have been GB/T 17948. 1 assessed in one procedure over the benchmark to compare the performance of insulation, is expected to change or substitute its feasibility.

Document data

International classification (ICS): 29.160.01; 29.080.01.

Chinese classification (CCS): K20.

Estimated length of the Chinese original: 11,115 words.
