Foreword

GB/T 48176-2026 is a recommended national standard (GB/T) of the People's Republic of China, issued on 28 August 2026 by the State Administration for Market Regulation and the Standardization Administration of China, with effect from 1 March 2027.

It is under the responsibility of the Standardization Administration of China.

Classification: ICS 03.080.30; CCS A12.

1 Scope

This standard is a specification for evaluating age-friendly facilities and services in community canteens. It concerns how to assess whether canteens serving local communities are equipped and operated in a way that suits older residents, who are often the main users of such meal services.

The people most likely to use it are community canteen operators, local civil affairs and community service departments, catering service providers, facility designers, and assessors who review service quality. Organizations that fund or supervise elderly care and community dining programmes can also use it as a common basis for evaluation.

The document was issued on 28 August 2026 and takes effect on 1 March 2027. It is a recommended national standard (GB/T), meaning it is voluntary unless a local government programme, contract or management rule makes it binding. It shares its theme and approach with a companion specification on public toilets that was released on the same day.
