

ICS 25.080
CCS L 77

SJ

INDUSTRY STANDARD OF THE PEOPLE'S REPUBLIC OF CHINA

SJ/T 11235-2001

Capability Maturity Model For Software Engineering

软件能力成熟度模型

(English Translation)

Issued on: April 13, 2001

Implemented on: May 1, 2001

Issued by: Ministry of Industry and Information Technology of PRC

Table of Contents

What this standard covers	1
Document data	2

What this standard covers

This standard provides for measuring an organization's software capability maturity model, namely software capability maturity model. This standard applies to third-party organization's software capability maturity assessment, but also for organizations to improve their software processes. The model described in this standard contains requirements raised from the software, software design, development, coding, testing, delivery run to the entire software life cycle software decommissioning in each of the basic elements of the software process. This standard describes the software process model is an organic collection. In this model, each process composed by a number of conventions. These practices are organized according to the various software development practice long-term successful experience gradually summary, refined form, is believed to have general applicability of best practices.

Document data

International classification (ICS): 25.080.

Chinese classification (CCS): L77.

Estimated length of the Chinese original: 248,270 words.