2 Scope Preview

This standard stipulates the security risks of DHCPv6 and extends it. It proposes two ways to improve security: client authentication and encryption of communication between the server and client to improve the server's ability to resist attacks such as spoofing. This standard specifies the new DHCPv6 messages of Encrypted-Query, Encrypted-Response, and new DHCPv6 options of Certificate, Signatue, Increasing-number, and Encrypted-message, which are used to implement the authentication and encryption process of DHCPv6 to improve the security of the DHCPv6 protocol. This standard applies to the dynamic allocation of user addresses in IPv6 networks.

YD/T 4210-2023 falls under ICS 33.040.40, in the field of telecommunications.

This catalogue holds 3,420 other YD/T standards in that field.
