Foreword

YD/T 6795-2026 is a recommended industry standard of the People's Republic of China in the Telecom sector, approved and issued by the Ministry of Industry and Information Technology on 15 April 2026, with effect from 1 August 2026.

It is administered by the China Communications Standards Association.

Classification: ICS 35.240; CCS L67.

1 Scope

This document specifies the requirements for classifying the service categories of mobile internet applications (APPs) in registration. It covers general requirements, the service categories and their content descriptions, and it explains categories that need prior approval, such as news and publishing, as well as categories that do not, such as government services and daily life services.

APP sponsors use it when completing registration procedures, and APP distribution platforms can use it as a reference when listing APPs. It is a voluntary industry standard, as the /T in the code shows. It was approved by the Ministry of Industry and Information Technology, issued on 15 April 2026 and takes effect on 1 August 2026. It is a new standard.
